ROUGH RIDERS A WILD LOT.

Colonels Wood and Roosevelt Anxious to Be Off—A Dance in Camp.

The officers of "Roosevelt's Rough Riders" have a new reason for wanting to get to Cuba as soon as possible. They are having trouble in controlling some of the men in the regiment. While the large majority of the men are fine, manly fellows, there are 200 or 300 scrapped together in the Indian and Oklahoma territories who are pretending to be Indians and half-breed Indians are among them.

Realizing that it would not do to be too strict at the start, the officers have been very liberal with passes and large crowds of the troopers have been in the habit of coming to town and getting drunk. The passes are good only until 10 o'clock at night, but the camp is a large one and heretofore it has been possible to crawl over or under the high fence at some unobserved point and escape arrest.

The troopers have been arrested by the police, but by orders of the Mayor and Recorder the cases against them have been dismissed.

Beginning to-day, however, the law will be strictly enforced, and a private named Thompson from the Indian Territory was fined $100 this morning for trying to annihilate a negro and overturn a carriage full of people. Another man from the Indian Territory was arrested near the city hall to-day while flourishing his machete in a dangerous manner on a crowded thoroughfare. Both Colonel Roosevelt and Colonel Wood are disappointed in some of their men, but are determined to make the best of the situation and will apply strict discipline to all the rowdies in the regiment.

A little serious diversion was created in camp this afternoon by "Roosevelt," mascot of the regiment, breaking his chain. Roosevelt is a young mountain lion, which was lassoed by one of the Arizona men near Prescott, Ariz., while on his way to enlist in the regiment. He carried the lion to town with him after he was enlisted and got permission to take him along as the squadron's mascot.

After Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt arrived and made such a favorable impression on the troopers they named their mascot "Roosevelt." The mascot got loose to-day, and when he was skipping gayly down between the rows of tents there was a sudden heigh of brawny troopers to another and more distant part of the camp ground.

Henry Benington, an expert with the lasso, happened to be near and a dexterous whirl of his lariat soon had his lionship safely in custody again.

After the behavior of some of men at the concert in the park Tuesday night, passes were scarce and most of the men stayed in camp last night. Various experiments were resorted to to pass away the time, the feature of the evening being a ball in the exhibition hall inside the camp. A private from Arizona brought a wheezy accordion with him, which, being supplemented by a banjo, played by a Texas cowboy, furnished music for a weird and altogether novel dance. Some of the troopers tried handkerchiefs around their arms, country fashion, to indicate that they were to impersonate ladies in the dance. Everybody was in a bappy humor and the fun grew fast and furious as the wheezy accordion filled the vast building with alleged melody. Several of the New York recruits, including Will Tudor, Will Tiffany, Kenneth Robinson, Craig Wadsworth and Joseph Simpson, joined merrily in the dance, which lasted until taps sounded.

Obstructing Roads.

United States Indian Agent

Wisdom sends out the following notice, which applies to and will interest the whole Indian Territory:

To whom concerned:

Whereas, complaints have frequently been made to this office of the fencing up and obstructing of public roads and highways in various parts of the Indian Territory and thus interfering with and impeding travel over heretofore recognized public roads;

And whereas, under my general authority as United States Indian agent, it is to protect and preserve the public highways and recognized roads throughout this agency for the convenience of citizens and non-citizens;

Therefore, all persons within this agency are hereby notified and warned to not fence or otherwise obstruct any of the public roads or highways which have been recognized as public roads or highways, and all persons who have fenced or otherwise obstructed any of the recognized public roads within this agency are also notified, warned and directed to forthwith remove such obstruction, including gates, off such roads immediately. All public roads must positively be kept free and open for undisturbed travel over the same and all such roads have been fenced or obstructed must be restored to the public use, and all such obstructions will be removed by the United States Indian police force of this agency under orders from this office upon proper complaint being made to me.

This notice is posted and will be read, and moreover, my Indian police force will in no wise tend to prevent the prosecution in the United States court of any person guilty of obstructing public highways within this agency according to law.

Little War Stories.

A Muskogee girl wept and told her sweetheart he could never be great in her eyes unless he proved his patriotism by going to war.

He "joined the army" to show his love for her and his country. The girl was disappointed for two whole days after his departure. Then she took up with a dashing member of the home guard and forgot all about her soldier boy.

This is the kind of men Spain has to fight against. A Vandalla boy tried to enlist in company C, then drilling at Mexico. He was an orphan and under the regulation age. He told his grievance to H. P. Robinson, a private, who took the boy with him to a probate judge, had papers made out appointing himself as guardian and then told the recruit that he would give him permission to go to war.

A young naval recruit was bidding farewell to his folks at home, when the old man said to him:
"John, you will likely be in many tickle places; but if you don't happen to get killed at sea, don't let them bury you there, but tell 'em to send you home. Give them instructions the moment you know you are killed. Don't neglect it; we want you where we can put a monument over you and point to you with pride." The young man said he'd think over it.

Henry Watterson said at the Associated Press banquet at Chicago last week: "I have seen wonderful things in my life, but I did not hope to see the day when 'Fitz' Lee and 'Joe' Wheeler would be major generals of the United States. When recently I saw the boys in blue, and nine among them, marching through the streets of Louisville, my heart was in my mouth, but when I saw at the head of the column a man whom thirty five years ago I had taken off the field of battle, then my heart burst and the tears flowed from my eyes. Whatever else beside, this war will settle the solidarity of this nation."

Ensign Bagley, who lost his life on the torpedo boat Winslow, has a sister in Washington, Miss Belle Bagley, who is in the geological survey. Strangely enough, she did not read the papers and knew nothing of his death until the next day, but went to the office as usual to her work. The officers of the bureau were naturally anxious that she should learn the sad news and be released from duty, but they dreaded to break the news to her.
At last one of them hit upon an expedient; he planned a drive with one of her women friends, who told her the story, and a sad task it was for the friend. Miss Bagley went to Raleigh to her brother's funeral. She is an attractive young woman and an exceedingly competent clerk.

INDIAN TERRITORY BILLS.

One Provides for a Court at Claremore and one Relates to Telephone Lines.

Washington, May 26.—Representative Little, of Arkansas, yesterday introduced in the house a bill to establish a United States court at Claremore, Cherokee nation, Indian Territory. The judge of the United States court for the Northern district of Oklahoma Territory is empowered to hold at least two terms of the court each year, each term to be not less than three weeks' duration. Sufficient notice shall be given before the holding of such court. The bill grants the court the same power and exercise of judgment and performance of duties as are now exercised and performed by the United States courts now held at Muskogee, Vinita, Tahlequah, Wagoner and Miami.

Representative Benton, of Missouri, yesterday introduced in the house a bill to authorize telegraph and telephone companies to construct and maintain lines and offices in the Indian Territory.
The bill provides that any telegraph or telephone company organized and incorporated under the laws of the United States, after obtaining consent from the persons in lawful possession of improvements, may construct such lines, paying for the privilege $5 annually for each ten miles of line to the nation or tribe through which the line passes.

Inquiries having been made as to the effect of enlistment in the army upon the benefit certificates of members of the A. O. U. W., in case of death, the supreme officer of the organization has issued a circular upon the subject, in which he said:

The Ancient Order of United Workmen has no law, rule or regulation now in existence, and in my opinion should never have one, that in any way prevents or discourage a member from performing his full and whole duty to his country, no matter in what capacity he feels called upon to act.

The honor and integrity of our fraternity, should be as dear to every member as is our order, and no true Workman would desire to do anything that would discourage the fulfillment of every duty of the true and loyal citizen.
